Vital Link Career Exploration Program
Student Code of Conduct
STEM and Digital Media Arts Showcase
April 13, 2012

You are about to attend a Career Exploration Program that will:

Provide you with information about careers in the Science, Technology,
Engineering, Math and Digital Media Arts fields.
See presentations and participate in hands-on activities

While you are there you can:

See presenters demonstrate what they do on the job
Identify a career you find interesting
Talk with business people about their career
Talk with employers about potential job opportunities

You are a guest of Vital Link and the STEM and Digital Media Arts Show at the OC Fair and Event Center. It is important that you follow the Student Code of Conduct while you are attending the program. The schools and businesses participating in this program are interested in meeting you and sharing information about their business or industry. Please show them respect by your behavior and participation in the event activities.

While you are attending the Career Exploration Program, we expect you to follow the Student Code of Conduct.

You are expected to:

- Dress in casual business attire
- Stay within the program area in the facility. You are not allowed to leave the area at any time during the program
- Attend the presentations/activities during your assigned times
- Turn off cell phones or electronic devices during the program. No texting.
- Act in a professional manner
 - No throwing items
 - No running or yelling
 - No horseplay
- Show respectful behavior when interacting with Presenters, Exhibitors and Vital Link staff
- Follow directions given by Vital Link event staff

If your behavior is considered disruptive to the program or to others, or you are unable to abide by the rules of the program, the following actions may be taken:

- Items may be confiscated
- You may be disciplined
- You may be removed from the event.

I have read and agree to follow the Student Code of Conduct:
